United Blues Experience - New Experience

Description:

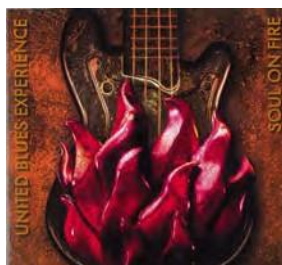

Blues

The classic blues has got 12 bars and for 12 years Bernreuther has been united to clearaudio, a great sound forge in Erlangen, Germany. This is something very special in today's fast moving music business - as special as the music of Wolfgang Bernreuther's New Experience. Although it can't be described, you must simply listen to it! It's a must-have for blues fans and for friends of real, handmade music, and a recommendation for high end sound gourmets!

United Blues Experience - Soul on fire

Description:

Blues

In the beginning there was the blues, and the blues was good, and all the good remains in the blues. The blues accompanies and survives all fashions, all epochs of music and also the history of mankind. There are only a few musicians in these days who embody everything that makes good blues: passion, energy and an abundance of sensitivity. United Blues Experience with its outstanding musicians Wolfgang Bernreuther, Beata Kossowska and Rudi Bayer is truly among these exceptional blues bands.

Description:

Blues

His solo debut album, Coyne accompanies himself, mostly on acoustic guitar, sometimes in the 1960's Fender Rhodes Electric Piano. Intimate, sometimes mysteriously these songs appear. By directly recording the impression is reinforced, as his songs were meant only very limited for the public. Already with the first track „How did you do“ he create a pleasant, relaxed atmosphere.

Description:

Classic

Each of the four is an excellent soloist, but you can hear above all, a very in itself closed sound, the interpretation comes from a common vision.

The artists are not afraid of conventions, they like to explore the boundaries of timbres and dynamics. Enthusiasm, desire for searching of new sounds and serious engagement and tradition will always find a good balance.

Rainer Maillard (Producer of Direct-to-Disc-Recording):

„...The Bolivar Soloists accepted the offer and it was immediately clear to them that for such a unique project they would record works by their revered Astor Piazzolla. Time passed, but at last we arrived at a date for the recording of seven tangos. The whole process of making a direct-to-disc recording is completely different from a usual recording. During our four days together the first day was given over completely to rehearsing. What one played was exactly what would be heard later – nothing more and nothing less.

There were no compromises – preparation is everything.

Deutsche Grammophon: Anne-Sophie Mutter (Berg: Violinkonzert / Rihm: Gesungene Zeit)

Description:

Classic

Berg's concerto offers a rich and highly personal blend of diverse musical features and autobiographical allusions. It is dedicated „to the memory of an angel“. In a „chanted time“ I find the unalterable forward movement of time and the absurd commentary of one who, while living in time, wants to make it stand still, enclose it within the moment, lock it in the moment as if in the living rock - but as movement, nergy, breathless but not rigid in death.

Deutsche Grammophon: Beethoven - Tripelkonzert

Description:

Classic

In the composers lifetime, only a single public performance is delivered. Only much later the score was published in print, but performances remained rare. During the 19th century, the demands on the performing musician changed fundamentally, and works for three excellent soloists (plus full orchestra!) were accordingly difficult to realize.

The respective level of awareness in all its beauty, achieved the Tripelkonzert only with the record - with recordings like this one: Géza Anda With, Wolfgang Schneiderhan and Pierre Fournier, Ferenc Fricsay.

What pleases us in view of the popular work of Mozart so much more, is that it was recorded by an all-star ensemble: names like Evelyn Lear, Fritz Wunderlich and Dietrich Fischer-Dieskau provide classical music lovers with a smile of delight. Even Karl Böhm and his Berlin Philharmonic have a reference status for many in the question of exemplary works of interpretation. This LP is musically as well sonically a special listening pleasure, especially regarding to the geographic division of voice and orchestra.

Deutsche Grammophon: Sviatoslav Richter - Rachmaninov Klavierkonzert Nr. 2 c-Moll

Description:

Classic

Among the most outstanding of Richter´s characteristics was his uncanny ability to illuminate the minutest details while at the same time making them converge into a single unified whole. This, allied to his prismatic approach to colour, goes some way towards explaining the quite extraordinary spell cast by his Debussy-playing. In the light of his playing of Estampes in particular, he must surely be ranked as peerless in this repertoire.

With the instrumentation started on 12th June 1867. The work completed on the evening of St. John’s Day on June 23, 1867 - so the first score of Modest Mussorgsky keeps the stations of the creation of the work „A Night on the Bare Mountain“ fixed.

Back in Time - History

Description:

Back in Time – “The unheard band behind the unknown guitarist”

When the band originally formed we got plenty of road experience playing regularly at motorcycle festivals and open air concerts around the south of Germany and Austria. A move back to his Irish homeland for Conor at the turn of the century almost spelled the end of the project but we all stayed in contact and even managed to do a few gigs over the barren spell up to 2007. Since then the band have always ensured to play a few gigs every year whenever work and family commitments will allow. Back in Time only run on all cylinders when the venue boils and the crowd are singing (roaring) back at the band – that is when the music works for everyone. In an attempt to capture some element of this the recording on this album has been carried out in a live format in a studio.

Description:

Tango

Angels and Demons have always been an inspiration for storytellers, writers, painters and musicians. Astor Piazzolla composed the first „Tango del Angel“ in the late 1950s. In the early 60s, followed by other Angel tango - „L'Introducción al Angel“ and „Muerte del Angel“, which were now written for the ‚classic‘ quintet. Perhaps this is reflected Piazzolla's soul life at this time, which was more dedicated to the angels, although also included demons of his life. Tango is a dance, tango is music, tango is art - the love to the art connects the Musicians of the ensemble ChamberJam Europe and is essential for every individual and his instrument.

Mario Nyéký & The Road are in close contact with the ancestors - but they make their own interpretation. They depend upon a principle that applies today as nearly eradicated in pop music: dynamics. In her songs wide arcs are drawn, which are able to make, even seven minute piece into an enjoyable experience. The quiet, gentle, fragile tones dominated the band as well as the wild,loud and oblique. Here Marios gently voice is indeed the center of events, spread her charisma but even if is not sung, only played.

Berliner Meister Schallplatten: Jocelyn B. Smith & Band - Pure & Natural

Description:

Jazz

The musicians are excellent professionals in their fields: the legendary saxophonist Volker Schlott, who became famous in the former DDR in Berlin's jazz scene. Secondly, the multifaceted pianist Bene Apperdanier, the „Deutschland sucht den Superstar“ as musical director of shows like „Star Search“ and a huge musical know-how. Ame Jansens rocks out with his wild combination of technical brilliance and improvised musical abandon. Heiko Jung, uses his experience in jazz, funk and soul to bring the ensemble together as a drummer. And when Heiko is the diamond, then Markus Runzheimer is definitely the bomb. Quietly and modestly until he picks up the bass since then really explosive beats are given for the best.

Klaus Jäckle - Träumerei

Description:

Classic

According to Paracelsus, what a dream shows, is the wisdom that exists within us, even though we know nothing about it while being awake. And as an Indian proverb says, wisdom comes only to he who dreams'. The „Träumerei“ by Robert Schumann forms the basis for this program. The arrangement for guitar, inspired by the work of Francisco Tarrega, father of the Spanish classical guitar, lends these romantic, dreamy piano pieces an even lighter and more transcendental nature.

It was a long cherished desire Heinz Wildhagens, to record songs by Franz Schubert with guitar accompaniment - his time in the Schubertiaden a common performance practice. Through the transparent sound of the guitar Schubert's music receives a lightness and buoyancy, which is rarely to hear on piano. After considering all the Schubert songs - after all, well over 800 - we made a selection. Some edits submitted by contemporaries, some were executed by Klaus Jäckle with great experience and empathy itself.

Back in Time - History

Description:

Pop & Rock

Back in Time – “The unheard band behind the unknown guitarist”

When the band originally formed we got plenty of road experience playing regularly at motorcycle festivals and open air concerts around the south of Germany and Austria.

A move back to his Irish homeland for Conor at the turn of the century almost spelled the end of the project but we all stayed in contact and even managed to do a few gigs over the barren spell up to 2007. Since then the band have always ensured to play a few gigs every year whenever work and family commitments will allow. Back in Time only run on all cylinders when the venue boils and the crowd are singing (roaring) back at the band – that is when the music works for everyone. In an attempt to capture some element of this the recording on this album has been carried out in a live format in a studio.
